Whether running a hotel, restaurant, pub or other catering establishment attention to detail and presentation of the food on offer and the general environment is all important in developing a successful food business – this includes a wide range of subjects including the menu offering to the cleanliness of the establishment which includes problems with rats and other vermin.

Additionally, bad odours and smells can create an offence and be off putting, so much so that you may lose customers particularly over the warmer summer months.

Food waste and recycling of waste are recognised as issues and potential eyesores that affect all food processors and users, yet all too often the solutions are seldom found in a single place.

Coldkit UK Ltd is now able to offer you a hygienic and cost effective way to reduce odours and smells from waste food with the Refrigerated Wheelie Bin Coolers – they come in a single or double unit and can be stored close to the main cleaning and disposal area in your kitchens.

You can either hire from as little as £1.65+VAT* per day or buy the Refrigerated Wheelie Bin Coolers from Icehouse Hire Ltd., Coldkit's partner, from £1,300+VAT*.

Taking care of another detail in your food establishment will ensure that your customers will continue to come back to you again and again. It is attention to details like this that make the difference.

*Subject to terms and conditions. Introductory offer.

"Smells and odours from rotting and decomposing food especially during the warmer months of the year are exceptionally off putting. The Coldkit Refrigerated Wheelie Bin Cooler will put an end to that once and for all!" Graham Weston, Tylney Hall

All prices includes delivery anywhere within the UK mainland, installation and maintenance cover for the duration of the rental period or if purchased each Refrigerated Wheelie Bin Cooler has a 12 month warranty on all parts and labour.
